

ANITA L. ALLEN

Narrative Bio and Curriculum Vitae

Education: Anita L. Allen is a JD graduate of Harvard Law School and holds a PhD in Philosophy from the University of Michigan.

Current Employment: Allen is Vice Provost for Faculty and the Henry R. Silverman Professor of Law and Professor of Philosophy at the University of Pennsylvania. She holds a secondary affiliation with the Department of Africana Studies and is a Senior Fellow of the Leonard Davis Institute of Health Economics. In her fifth year as university-wide Vice Provost for Faculty for Penn's twelve schools, she manages faculty appointments, promotions and tenure, reviews faculty salaries, oversees faculty benefits, climate and diversity/inclusion initiatives, and also chairs the Provost's Arts Advisory Committee.

Legal Academy Leadership: Formerly a Deputy Dean at Penn Law School, Allen was the 2013 recipient of the annual A. Leo Levin Award for Excellence in an Introductory Course (Torts). She has overseen SJD theses of lawyers from Canada, Israel, Taiwan and China. Prior to coming to Penn, Allen was Professor and Vice Dean for Research and Scholarship at Georgetown University Law Center. She began her teaching career on the faculties of Carnegie-Mellon University and Pittsburgh Law School, and she has been a full-time visiting professor at Harvard Law, Yale Law, Villanova Law and Waseda University Law School, Tokyo. Allen was a fellow of the Law and Public Affairs Program at Princeton University. Allen is featured in a Penn Coursera MOOC, Introduction to American Law, lecturing on Torts. She served on the Association of American Law Schools' Executive Committee, after chairing its sections on Jurisprudence and Privacy and Defamation. Allen served on the founding Executive Committee of the interdisciplinary Association for the Study of Law, Culture and the Humanities, on the American Association of University Women's Legal Advisory Board and on American Association of University Professors' Litigation Committee.

Legal Profession: Allen is a member of the Pennsylvania and New York state bars. She was an Associate Attorney with Cravath, Swaine and Moore after graduating from Harvard, and was a Summer Associate with Milbank Tweed in New York and the former Gaston Snow in Boston. Today, she is an elected member of the American Law Institute. She offers CLE training for lawyers through the Practicing Law Institute in New York and for the federal and state judiciaries in Pennsylvania. Allen has served as an expert witness, and consults with law firms and lawyers on issues relating to professional ethics, bioethics, and data protection. She formerly served on the National Association of Women Lawyer's Supreme Court Committee. Allen was appointed to the first Pennsylvania Continuing Judicial Education Board of Judges in 2016. Allen served several terms on the Board of the Bazelon Center for Mental Health Law and has served on the ACLU Privacy Committee. Today she serves on the National Academies Forum on Cyber Resilience, and the Board of the Electronic Privacy Information Center (EPIC). In June 2014, she received a Lifetime Achievement Award from EPIC for pioneering privacy scholarship and advocacy.

Research and Impact: Allen is an expert on privacy and data protection law and ethics, co-author of Privacy Law and Society (2016), a comprehensive textbook. Allen's sole-authored books include, Unpopular Privacy (2011); The New Ethics (2004), Why Privacy Isn't Everything (2003), and Uneasy Access (1988). Allen's ideas have been published in the Harvard Law Review Forum, the Stanford Law Review, the Chicago Law Review, the California Law Review, and many other law journals; she has published more than 100 scholarly articles, essays and book chapters. She is frequently quoted in major media and has contributed opinion pieces to newspapers, magazines and blogs (e.g., Daily Beast, Politico, Star-Ledger, O Magazine), appeared on numerous television and radio programs, and lectured and taught nationally and internationally in Canada, China, Japan, Taiwan, and Israel and throughout Europe.

Philosophy and Ethics: Allen has served on numerous editorial, advisory, and non-profit boards relating to academic philosophy and practical and professional ethics. In 2017 Allen was elected Vice President and President Elect of the American Philosophical Association, Eastern Division. She has served on the Association for Practical and Professional Ethics' Executive Committee and the Hastings Center's Board of Directors. She has participated as an instructor in Penn's Bioethics Boot Camp for philosophy graduate students, and in the summer program of Penn's Center for Neuroscience and Society. She is currently a Fellow of the Johns Hopkins University Humanities Center, and was a summer faculty member of the School of Criticism and Theory at Cornell University in 2016. She has been recognized by the Collegium of Black Women Philosophers and received the Alain Locke Award for Contributions to Legal Philosophy.

Medicine and Health Care: Allen was inducted into the National Academy of Medicine in 2016. Under both of President Barack Obama's terms of office, she served on the Presidential Commission for the Study of Bioethical Issues. She was a member of the recent American Psychological Association Commission on Ethics Processes, and is currently serving on the IRB of the NIH Precision Medicine Initiative, as well as on the Board of Directors of the WCG Foundation, a medical charity.

Personal: Allen was born in Port Townsend, Washington. She is married to an attorney and has two young adult children. She enjoys gardening, art museums and travel; and is a member of the Bryn Mawr Presbyterian Church.
