

Master in Law

PATENT LAW

LAWM 576 • Fall 2020

Online

Polk Wagner

*Michael A. Fitts Professor of Law,
University of Pennsylvania Carey Law School*

Patent law has become crucial for engineers, doctors, entrepreneurs, and other professionals who interact with or seek familiarity with the patent system. This online course takes a broad look at U.S. patent law, from the enforcement of patents to the interpretation of patent claims. With online drop-in office hours and Q&A discussions, students will be able to gain an understanding of the policy principles underlying the U.S. patent system; analyze patent documents and obtain skill sets to work with patent representatives; learn about the process of obtaining a valid patent for an invention or technology; work with entrepreneurs to enforce patents — or avoid infringing them; and manage damages in cases where patents are violated.

For more information, visit: <https://www.law.upenn.edu/admissions/master-in-law/>