Aseem Chipalkatti L'21

Aseem Chipalkatti is a Seattleite whose work revolves around ensuring the collective representation of minority groups, especially the South Asian community. As the cofounder and Board President of South Asian Americans for Washington (saatwa.org), he is excited to advocate for and promote the goals of the South Asian and overarching AAPI communities in his home state. Aseem's legal interests lie in litigation broadly, with a focus on constitutional litigation and civil rights work.

Before law school, Aseem was a political and communications consultant, and has worked on political races in Philadelphia, Sacramento, and the Greater Seattle Area. As a proud Venture for America alumnus, Aseem has worked for startups in both Philadelphia and St. Louis (both of which will always hold a special place in his heart). He received a BA from Claremont McKenna College in 2015.
