

LETTER FROM THE EDITORS

October 23, 2011

Dear Reader,

This Special Issue of the Journal of International Law and the Journal of Law and Social Change was produced and published in order to memorialize the work presented at the Conference on Rule of Law Reform in Iraq and Afghanistan, which took place in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania at the National Constitution Center and the University of Pennsylvania Law School on September 23 and 24, 2010.

With the help of Dean Amy Gadsden and the Office for International Programs at Penn Law, the Journals began to cultivate ideas for a publication that would honor the ideas and discussions that took place at the Conference. Over the course of a year, we invited our distinguished Conference participants to draft diverse pieces that informed the opinions and discussions they shared at the Conference.

After receiving submissions from those participants who were able to contribute to the Special Issue, the staffs of the Journals prepared the pieces for publication. We cannot understate our gratitude to our Journal staffs, particularly the Journal Boards, for their hard work and commitment to producing this Special Issue.

The Journal of International Law would like to thank the following editors who worked tirelessly to prepare the issue for publication: Elise Corey, Managing Editor (Vol. 32); Johnathan Lindsey, Executive Editor (Vol. 32); Pauline Law, Production Editor (Vol. 33); and Andrew Shoals, Editor-in-Chief (Vol. 33). We would also like to thank Gabriela Femenia and Merle Slyhoff in the Biddle Law Library for their superior assistance.

The Journal of Law and Social Change would like to thank the many editors who worked tirelessly to prepare the issue for publication, including: Erin Staab, Co-Editor-in-Chief (Vol. 15); Jamie Gullen, Co-Editor-in-Chief (Vol. 15); and Rheka Nair, Managing Editor (Vol. 15).

Sincerely,

Kate Unger Davis & Nate Vogel
