

PENN LAW POSTGRADUATE CATALYST FELLOWSHIP PROGRAM APPLICATION 2019-2020

Penn Law School has a long-standing commitment to service. With one of the oldest and most rigorous pro bono requirements in the country, and the distinction of being the first law school to receive the ABA's Pro Bono Publico Award, Penn Law ensures that all students engage in service as part of their legal education, and is committed to offering additional support to those students who aspire to dedicate their careers to public service. To that end, the Law School has established a comprehensive and competitive Penn Law Postgraduate Catalyst Fellowships Fellowship Funding Program that support 3Ls who obtain post-graduate volunteer positions in government, nonprofit, or international organizations in which full-time staff positions may ultimately be secured.

CATALYST FELLOWSHIPS

Penn Law's Catalyst Fellowships fund students to work with local, state, federal and international government agencies, public defender offices, public interest organizations, NGOs, or international tribunals (e.g. International Court of Justice, International Criminal Court). Positions with other courts will not be eligible for Catalyst funding.

Eligibility: Only Penn Law students in their last year of law school are eligible to apply for these fellowships. Alumni are ineligible.

Fellowships will be awarded on a competitive basis for up to one year of funding beginning in August or September of 2019, at a salary of $40,000 for the year (including benefits, which begin on the first of the month after completion of your first 90 days). Successful applicants will receive award letters detailing the payment process and the requirements of the fellowship. In addition, Fellows may be eligible for the Penn Law Toll Loan Repayment Assistance Program (ToLRAP) and should review the comprehensive ToLRAP website for details.

APPLICATION PROCESS & DEADLINES

Applications for Catalyst Fellowships are due on Monday, April 1st by 12:00PM. All applicants will be interviewed the week of Monday, April 22nd. Decisions will be communicated to all applicants no later than Friday, April 26th. There is a strong preference for in-person interviews, but arrangements can be made via Skype if necessary.

Completed applications must be submitted to fellowships@law.upenn.edu in one PDF document. Late applications will not be considered.

Applicants may also apply for a Project-based Fellowship. Applying for both sources of funding will not impact the selection process. Students may apply for Catalyst funding before they have secured a placement. To those students, conditional award letters can be provided in order to help them secure a commitment from prospective placements.

Please submit your application in one complete document, comprised of:

1. A current résumé.
2. A personal statement (no more than 3 double-spaced pages) that describes your relevant experience, interests, future goals with respect to public interest work, and any other reasons the committee should consider awarding you this fellowship.
3. A description of your sponsoring organization that details its mission and work, and that describes how your work will be important to its mission. If applicable, describe any prior work in which you have engaged with the host organization.
4. If you have not yet secured an internship or employment with your placement organization, please list up to five (5) possible organizations where you would like to work, with a description of their mission and the work you would propose to do for those organizations. Please detail the steps you have taken and will continue to take to secure a position with each organization you list. Be as specific as possible so that the Selection Committee can have a clear sense of the efforts you have made to secure positions with organizations that align well with your public service goals. Your application will be reviewed and you may be provisionally granted a Catalyst Fellowship subject to final approval of a placement or internship.
5. Two letters of recommendation from professors and/or past employers, particularly those who can speak to your commitment to and experience in public service. It is preferred that letters be included in the application packet. However, letters of recommendation may be emailed directly to the Toll Public Interest Center by recommenders who wish to do so. Letters of recommendation should be addressed to:

Toll Public Interest Center Advisory Board

Philadelphia, PA 19104

Please remember that any member of the faculty or administration, including the staff of the Toll Public Interest Center, the Office of Career Planning and Professionalism, and the Office of International Programs, can support you in your application because they do not participate in the selection of fellowship recipients.
