Law School - CATS Comments Report
Spring 2018

CRN	Course	What do you consider to be the strengths of the professor as demonstrated in this course?	What do you consider to be the weaknesses of the professor as demonstrated in this course?	Do you have any comments or suggestions regarding the course or professor?
34371.0	7117-2: Law and Economics			Give more instructions for the final exam.
34371.0	7117-2: Law and Economics	This professor is extremely knowledgeable and passionate about the course material.	I do not feel like I actually learned a lot in this class. I felt nervous when we received the final exam because I was not sure what the professor was looking for.	I would suggest making the instructions clearer for what he is looking for on the final exam. I also discussed comments on the final exam the professor gave us with one of my classmates and we discovered the feedback we received was exactly the same. I think more individualized feedback would have been more beneficial.
34371.0	7117-2: Law and Economics	Interest in the subject and ability to migrate between different areas of the law to apply general principles.	Class felt rushed in the short time frame. I like that it was abbreviated, but we may have packed too many topics into too few weeks.	We could have had more diversified reading material. For example, it would have been interesting to read a court opinion that applied some of the principles we learned.
34371.0	7117-2: Law and Economics			loved the one credit course format!
34371.0	7117-2: Law and Economics	The Professor's understanding of the topic and ability to explain it clearly.	If future classes could work through practice problems, like the final exam, that would be beneficial.	I liked that the course covered multiple different areas of the law instead of focusing on a single area.
34371.0	7117-2: Law and Economics	Obviously knowledgeable, passionate	N/a	I loved the course but found the 3 hour courses very long. I enjoyed the 8 topics in the course.
34371.0	7117-2: Law and Economics		Potentially a little bit more structure with each mini unit/ how to approach the exam.	This course was really interesting. I think for someone who didn't have any economics background it would have been better to have more of a background.
34371.0	7117-2: Law and Economics	Professor Klick knows the material like the back of his hand and is able to quickly respond to questions and comments in a way that benefits students.	I think Professor Klick sometimes assumed students understood earlier material that we had covered better than they did and tried to build off of it and it wasn't always effective. The material was dense and different from other things we study in law school so I didn't feel like I had effectively synthesized the information until I began writing my final paper.	I think a different text would be beneficial. The fact that the book was free online and easy to read were positives. However, the author of the text writes in a kind of meandering and disorganized manner, which I thought made it difficult to distill the main points of each chapter.
34371.0	7117-2: Law and Economics	Very good at explaining the material for someone who has not taken an economics course before while not being rudimentary or boring.	None, the format was great, loved that it was 1 credit, the professor explained things very well, and made sure that students were understanding the material before moving forward.
34371.0	7117-2: Law and Economics	Thorough knowledge of the subject	3 hours of straight lecturing. This did not stimulate discussion and I felt the value of the course greatly diminished.	This course could provide an enjoyable learning experience, but it would require class participation and assignments to cultivate participation. I understand this is difficult to do over the course of a 12 hour class - but nonetheless I feel a better attempt could have been made.
34371.0	7117-2: Law and Economics	Professor was extremely knowledgeable about the subject and directed, and encouraged interesting discussions.	None.	This was a great course and I would highly recommend anyone taking it. The course offers a valuable perspective on law and far exceeded my expectations.
34371.0	7117-2: Law and Economics	Very knowledgeable about the subject
