Firm name: Anderson Mōri & Tomotsune (http://www.amt-law.com/en)
Location: Tokyo, Japan
Symplicity Job # 8365

Description of Firm: With over 300 lawyers, AM&T is among the largest and most diversified law firms in Japan. The firm is highly experienced in coordinating complex matters with international institutions and their global advisors. AM&T consistently ranks as one of the top Japanese law firms according to such periodicals as Chambers, the Legal 500 and Asia Legal Business. Many AM&T partners are recognized experts in their fields. AM&T is a full service corporate law firm. Its main areas of practice are: commercial transactions, corporate/mergers & acquisitions, banking and finance, capital markets, structured finance, anti-monopoly and competition law, labor and employment, intellectual property and licensing, Japanese and international tax, China law, litigation and arbitration.

Description of Internship: The basic responsibilities of a Summer Intern include proofreading of English language documentation prepared by Japanese lawyers. Depending on the motivation and ability of the Summer Intern, responsibilities may also involve direct client contact, substantive review, drafting and editing of advice letters, legal memoranda and contracts. In order for you to gain the most from the experience, you will need to actively seek work from a variety of AM&T partners and associates and demonstrate a positive attitude and willingness to assist.

Length of Internship: Ten weeks, from early June to mid-August

Stipends and Benefits: Internship is unpaid. AM&T will reimburse the cost of a round trip, direct, economy air ticket between your home in the United States and Tokyo. AM&T will cover one week’s hotel room charges until permanent housing can be secured. The firm will also provide Japanese language lessons twice per week at the firm’s offices.

Qualifications: Must submit recent transcript with application materials. Because many AM&T junior associates require additional experience in communicating in both spoken and written business and legal English, Summer Interns are not required to have Japanese language ability. Interns are expected to: demonstrate very high levels of writing and analytical skills; be native English speakers; be patient in working through unfamiliar legal and commercial issues with non-native speakers of English from a civil law jurisdiction; and be committed to proactively developing professional relationships with Japanese lawyers in various practice areas at AM&T.

Symplicity Job # 8367

Description: The Beijing Arbitration Commission (BAC), established in 1995, is one of China’s foremost non-profit arbitration organizations. The BAC offers services in arbitration, mediation, and other alternative dispute resolution procedures. As of November 2011, The BAC has accepted a total of 18,595 cases involving parties located worldwide.

Description of Internship: An internship with The BAC will provide candidates with the opportunity to practice what they have learned thus far in the course of their legal education, as well as to broaden and improve their knowledge about Chinese dispute resolution mechanisms and legal practice. Tasks assigned to interns will primarily consist of: Taking part in the administration of the arbitral process including case acceptance, pre-hearing activities, attending arbitration hearings, and case management; Performing research and culminating the internship with a presentation related to the field of Chinese law and dispute resolution. This will often constitute a major project for foreign interns not familiar with Mandarin. The presentation is an opportunity to learn about the Chinese legal regime and provide secretaries with a comparative analysis to the alternative dispute resolution mechanisms in the applicant's native country; Assisting the BAC Secretariat (case managers) with other tasks such as organizing seminars, reviewing documents, and drafting reports.

Length of Internship: Subject to BAC approval. A length of two months is recommended.

Stipends and Benefits: This is an unpaid internship, though the BAC will provide a moderate lunch subsidy for interns. [Note: because the Arbitration Commission is a non-profit institution, the Penn Law may be able to provide partial grant funding to interns.]

Qualifications: A letter of recommendation is required. Applicants must possess intermediate Mandarin speaking and listening comprehension. Cover letter should include learning objectives.

Firm name: Cobden House Chambers (http://www.cobden.co.uk/)
Location: Manchester, United Kingdom
Symplicity Job # 8375

Description of the Firm: Cobden House Chambers is a barristers’ Chambers in Manchester, which is the largest legal center in England outside London. (Note that in England and Wales the legal profession is divided into barristers and solicitors.) The Chambers has over 60 members, practicing in four main areas, Crime, Personal Injury, Chancery and Family. The work of Chambers is heavily litigious. The Chambers is noted for a willingness to act on both sides of disputes; we both prosecute and defend crime, act for both plaintiffs and insurers in personal injury claims, act for both creditors and debtors, and so forth. At least 6 members of Chambers sit as part-time Judges in various capacities.

Description of internship: Barristers Chambers typically offer British Law students short placements in Chambers called “mini-pupillages” to assist in career choices and to identify suitable recruits. This is what is being offered to Penn Law Students. It is mainly observation, with only limited research being required. It will introduce students to another common law system. The candidate may be able to spend some time sitting with a Judge, but this is not guaranteed.

Length of internship: Two to four weeks, ending before August.

Stipends and Benefit: Entirely unpaid. Accommodation may be available.

Qualifications: An open mind and a willingness to experience law at the sharp end. Some pre-reading on aspects of modern English law is desirable.

Firm Name: Kim & Chang (http://www.kimchang.com)
Location: Seoul, Korea
Symplicity Job # 8380

Description of the firm: Kim & Chang is widely recognized as Korea's premier law firm. Established in 1973, the firm has set the standard for excellence for legal services in every major area of practice. The principles we were founded on and which we still adhere to today allow us to provide the highest-quality legal advice to our clients -- specialization in core practice areas, dedication to meeting the unique needs of each client, and internationalization of staff. Having advised in the majority of major transactions, projects, and cases in Korea, we have earned an unrivalled track record for developing innovative solutions to the increasingly complex legal challenges that our clients face, both in Korea and increasingly overseas. Yong Kap Kim (GL’84) is chair of the firm’s Japanese Practice Group; attorney Myoung-Jae Chung (GL’05) is an officer of Penn Law’s Korea alumni club.

Description of Internship: Our clerkship program has been designed to provide law students with training and insight into working at a law firm specializing in international transactions. Law students are expected to engage in work similar to that performed by a first or second year associate at the firm. Drafting memoranda, preparing transaction documentation, conducting due diligence on businesses and having direct client contact are some of the experiences that summer associates can expect during their stay at Kim & Chang. As a part of the experience, law students also gain invaluable cultural experiences that may help broaden the individual’s understanding of the socio-economic dynamics of Korea, and to a larger extent, the Asian business community.

Length of the internship: 2 months beginning in late May or early June.

Stipends and Benefits: Gross stipend is 2.3 million Korean won per month. We also provide economy class round trip airfare provided that clerks are able to work with us for a period of at least 8 weeks.

Qualifications: Our clerkship program is mainly geared towards accommodating first year law school students. Unlike clerkship programs in U.S. law firms, Kim & Chang Clerkship Program is not directly intended for the purposes of gaining permanent recruitment.
